Many U.S. Tanks Sent To British

HYDE PARK, N.Y., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Sharply assailing figures cited by Senator Byrd (Dem.-Virginia).
President Roosevelt asserted today that while United States
defense production never had been completely satisfactory,
on the average it was up to estimates.

The President told a press conference, and he volunteered that he had heard and read a statement by Senator Byrd earlier in the week in Washington
which said defense production was lagging seriously. The President said he had asked the war department for a check and that it had shown the results were wrong in all categories but planes.

Mr. Byrd declared, the President said, that not a single tank had gone to Britain. Actually, he asserted, hundreds of tanks have

REDS KILLING 'EM' Hitler's Elite Corps Getting Short Of Men

BERLIN, Aug. 22.—(AP)—The German SS elite corps, which as an association of volunteers is known as Hitler's bodyguard, today opened its ranks to new recruits.

An announcement said qualified men from 17 to 48 might join for military and other special "SS" units. Recruits now will be accepted for duration of the "emergency," whereas normally they are required to sign up for 12 years.

"SS" units frequently are spread-ed of decisive engagements and
"SS" formations now are among the German forces besieging Odessa.
There has been no announcement of the losses to this or any other German formation, but the "SS" has been in the thick of the action since the Russian campaign began.

"SS" units, commanders frequently have reported the destruction of
"SS" units.

RUSSIA'S OVER-ALL PROGRAM IS PROTRACTED WARFARE

Knows She Must Depend Largely On Own Resources

Prolonged War Implicit
In Moscow Preparations
For Coming Conferences

By A. T. STEELE

Copyright, 1941, by The Chicago Daily News, Inc., and The Edmonton Bulletin

MOSCOW, Aug. 22.—(CDN)—To anyone here with eyes to see, it is apparent that Russia's over-all program in this battle of giants is protracted warfare, regardless of local reverses.

A prolonged war is implicit in Moscow's cordial preparations for the impending Anglo-Soviet American conference on the mutual interchange of raw materials. Whatever comes out of that meeting, it is sure to be a long-range matter. But for the immediate critical phase of the war, with Germany, Russia knows that she must depend largely on her own resources, with such quantities of essential goods as may be available under her trade agreement with the United States and her newly consummated accord with Great Britain.

There is no doubt that the Russians deeply appreciate the Anglo-American good will motivating the impending conference. At the same time, these are sternly realistic people and they are not letting themselves get unduly worked up with over-optimistic expectations and predictions of quick results.

In contrast to the endless columns of sensational speculation in some sections of the foreign press, Soviet officials and Soviet newspapers are almost silent about the coming meeting. What Russia wants and stands every chance of getting now, under her existing agreements with the United States and Britain, are goods of comparatively small volume but enormous essential importance necessary to round out her immediate war requirements.

The need for American machine tools, for instance, grows daily more insistent as the Nazis blast their way through the Ukraine, past the important industrial base of Kiev, and now dangerously close to the gigantic power-producing steel-milling and aluminum-making works in and around Dnepropetrovsk.

To what extent Russia's so-called earth policy is being carried out is very difficult to know. But that part of previous equipment in overseas cities has been saved and transported, seaward

Animated Films
To Train Troops

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 22.—(AP)—The Walt Disney studio disclosed Monday it had been commissioned by the Canadian government to produce animated films for training purposes.

Production already has started on five short films, half of the footage being devoted to technical military subjects, the operation of a new anti-blitzkrieg weapon. John Grierson, chief of the Canadian national film board, flew here from Ottawa last week to make arrangements for the pictures after the studio had offered to produce training films at cost for the United States government. A sample picture, teaching aircraft riveting according to a new technique, already has been shown to government officials in Washington. A Canadian non-missionary officer has been stationed at the studio to aid in production of the cartoon subjects.

Student Pilots
Give Information
Flying Display

MOOSE JAW, Aug. 22.—(CP)—Student flying by an expert and formation flying by instructors and senior student pilots were witnessed by the Governor-General and Princess Alice when they visited the No. 12 Service Flying Training School near here Thursday during their two-day visit to the city.

Wing Cmdr. Morrison in a Tiger-Moth plane, put the aircraft through evolutions that gave a thrill even to experienced pilots at the airport.

Twelve instructors demonstrated formation flying in Harvard training planes, showing the V formation, in line and in aster, finally peeling off and passing the Governor-General and Princess Alice at low altitude and at terrific speed.

The Vice-Royal party inspected the men's mess, the sergeants' mess, officers' mess, the men's quarters, canteen and dance hall and hospital and later His Excellency had tea in the officers' mess. At the school their Excellencies were met by Group Captain C. E. H. James, M.C., commanding the station, and Air Commodore A. T. N. Cowley, officer commanding No. 4 Air Training Command. Princess Alice attended a lecture given by the Women's Canadian Club and visited the workrooms of the I.O.D.E. The Governor-General will visit the Moose Jaw district today.

General Rains
Delay Harvest
On West Farms

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 22.—With the exception of southern Alberta, general rains have retarded harvesting operations in western Canada. Cutting of wheat will be completed in Manitoba this week while further west, a progressively later date is indicated. Considerable threshing has been done in Manitoba and yields generally better than in the west, according to the weekly crop report of the Canadian National Railways.

In southern Manitoba heavy rains have held up threshing but this week should see all wheat cut. Most frequent yield reported is around 20 bushels of wheat per acre and grades two and three common. Cane grain, where threshed, are yielding better than anticipated. Sugar beet crop generally reported favorable.

LITTLE THRESHING
In the northwestern part of Manitoba little wheat has been threshed, it yielding 12 to 18 bushels per acre. Late rains have improved hay crops, pastures and gardens, but coarse grain yields will be low. In the half of Saskatchewan unsettled weather has caused some delay in harvesting. Cutting is well advanced and threshing has commenced at a few points. Great variability is reported but the average will be low. Grades, especially in eastern area, are expected to be 2 and 3 Northern with some No. 1 Northern appearing in the west half of the province.

In northern Saskatchewan harvesting operations are in full swing and threshing will be general next week. A few points where threshing has commenced report yields better than anticipated, although low. Pastures and food crops have improved with recent rains.

AVERAGE YIELD LOW

Southern Alberta reports weather generally fair and warm. Cutting is well advanced and some combining has been done. Yields are reported from 8 to 20 bushels per acre, but the average will be very low. Pastures are in poor shape and some crops are being cut for feed. In the northern half of Alberta very little threshing has been done, but in the light of our previous weekly report the average yield will be low. Weather has been cool with general rains which have improved late sown crops and pastures.

Cutting has just commenced in the Peace River district and there has been considerable rain during the week. Conditions generally remain promising.

Canada Completes
First Bofors Gun

HAMILTON, Aug. 22.—(CP)—Assembly of the first anti-aircraft gun to be manufactured in Canada was completed at the Plant of the Old Person Elevator Company today. The fast firing Bofors gun, made up of 1,600 intricate parts, was made in Canada by Canadian workmen.

The new gun was completed early today, and with its paint still fresh, was drawn up before the plant's ordnance division. Earlier it passed rigid inspection by plant and government supervisors.

The Bofors gun, of Swedish origin, is one of the most effective anti-aircraft weapons. It can be revolved completely around and elevated to any position so the muzzle and fire can cover objects anywhere above it. It is believed the gun can pump as many as 135 shells a minute.

Supply Controller
Will Be Appointed

OTTAWA, Aug. 22.—(CP)—Allan Williamson of Vancouver will be appointed controller of supply, a new post in the department of munitions and supply, within the next few days. It was made authoritative Thursday night.

Mr. Williamson will have wide powers to regulate production of heavy civilian merchandise goods. Specific articles which will come under his jurisdiction have not been decided but it is understood they may include such household appliances as washing machines, vacuum cleaners and refrigerators.

Member of a Vancouver financial firm, Mr. Williamson arrived in Ottawa yesterday prior to taking up his new appointment.

Great Work Done
For Britain By
U.S. Red Cross

LONDON, Aug. 22.—(CP)—The acting vice-chairman of the American Red Cross who now is in Britain to review the society's work Thursday night described the "great effort" already put forth by its organization, the British Broadcasting Corporation said.

The society has raised nearly $500,000 (about $22,432,000) for British relief and goods already sent to Britain include half a million blankets and 14,000,000 surgical dressings, the Red Cross executive said.

Let Your Car Wear Proudly This Patriotic Sticker!

Go to your friendly neighbourhood service station or your local garage man today. A surprise awaits you. He has changed. He will be as courteous and thoughtful as ever—glad to see you—eager to do anything and everything he can to help you. But he is no longer a gasoline salesman. He is a gasoline SAVER. He will tell you all about the "50/50" Pledge to cut your gas consumption by fifty per cent. He will invite you to sign. He will give you a patriotic sticker for your car that will mark you as a member of the wise and thoughtful band of car owners co-operating with the Government to save gasoline. This is entirely a voluntary movement. It is not rationing. The Government hopes to avert. But we are faced with a critical shortage of gasoline due to the diversion of tankers for overseas service and to the growing needs of our Fighting Forces.

There is no call for panic—no need for alarm—but this war is being fought with gasoline and we are fighting for our very lives. Sign the Pledge today and continue to save fifty per cent of your gasoline consumption.

It is also vitally important that you reduce the use of domestic and commercial fuel oil.

ALL THAT REMAINS OF THE BELGIAN NAVY

The Remnants of the Van De Sande Now In Belgian Congo Waters

Country's Naval Cadets
Are Now Scattered Over
The Seas Of The World

By GEORGE WELLER

Copyright, 1941, by The Chicago Daily News, Inc.

BANANA, Lower Belgian Congo, Aug. 22.—(CDN)—When the tiny launch Princess Astrid, having crept across the vast tea-brown horizon of the vast expanse that is the Congo's mouth, aided its way through spinning eddies into the palm-lined lagoon, Commander Maurice Van de Sande of the Belgian Navy, a heavy-set man in his late fifties, was waiting upon the postage-stamp dock.

He saluted. A carol-rung was sinking behind the palms into Banana's sandy soil and the last black fisherman in a dugout was fighting the glassy whirlpools trying to reach the village upon the opposite jungle bank. In the village of Cabin-fishermen, the supper pots were already steaming over campfires and quick brown shadous of white men darted across the fire-lit beach. The three-masted training George Weller ship of the Belgian navy, Van de Sande's Marcellor, was lying at anchor in the lagoon.

The Princess Astrid bore a dozen Portuguese culled by the Belgian authorities from 15 off the Portuguese steamer Joao Belgo, which was attempting to enter the Congo. As soon as it had been moored, Commander Van de Sande, who had a dozen men and women composing the bulk of Banana's population, pressed forward to the gangplank.

EXCLUSIVE
All were seeking the scarer mail, the commander said, that they either. After the acceptable passengers, chiefly technicians with their families who intend to join the French fleet at Brazzaville, four days upstream, had been allowed aboard, Commander Van de Sande studied the launch's tiny cabin, seeking the few who were there was none. Little arrived from Belgium and the 80 naval cadets who were Van de Sande's charge until last autumn are scattered over the sea of the world.

Commander Van de Sande and the pure white sailing ship are all that remain of the Belgian navy within Belgian waters.

"I'm rather a postmaster than a sea captain, now," said the commander ruefully, in the perfect English he learned during training cruises to the American shores, "get plenty of letters from the boys' families. They ask what we're doing, how I am, and how the boys are. I answer that I didn't send the boys away, they simply left me. Some are on British warships, some have shore duty in England and some are doing convoy duty in tricky places like the Gulf of Guinea where I first cruised with them."

The wind began lashing the palms and mosquitoes buzzed around the sea captain's head as he slipped upon the beach. The commander quietly lit a drink.

NO SURPRISE
"I'm not surprised that the boys rarely write me," he says. "They were all 17 and 18 years old when they left me and the Mercator here and they cannot be expected to write letters at that age. But the old Mercator, like myself, is getting a heavy coat of rust. I cannot take her upstream to the floating dredge at Boma without the U.S. Navy."

"Waiting here, I've learned to understand why Joseph Courat's ship, a Congo captain was his unhappy. Some day, all my 80 boys will come back again—no almost—and these won't be any submarines and they will take the Mercator around the world with a clean bottom and every sail set."

Commander Van de Sande arises with a great show of excitement, salutes and walks into the dark corridor of palms where the Mercator's dinghy awaits him.

U.S. Confiscates
Money From Japs

SHANGHAI, Aug. 22.—(AP)—A foreign passenger aboard the French ship Marcellor Joffre reported today that United States authorities confiscated $80,000 from Japanese passengers before the ship left Manila for Shanghai last Monday. He said the Japanese were attempting to remove money from the Philippines in violation of the freezing regulations.

British Had Few
Airplanes Left

LONDON, Aug. 22.—(CP)—Air Commander R. V. Godard, BBC commentator, said in a broadcast on Thursday night, "When our airman withdrew from Crete we had only seven airplanes left able to fly—four Gladiators and three Hurricanes." He added, "These were being taken thousands of Nazi aircraft."

Alexandria Raided

CAIRO, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Three persons were killed and six injured in a raid on Alexandria last night, a communications said today. Damage was slight.

Resources Lack
Puts Germany
On Down-Grade

Under the successful in Russia. Germany has lost practically no tin, no nickel, no chrome, no molybdenum, no tungsten, no vanadium.

"There is no doubt whatever that the performance of much German war equipment is adversely affected by the lack of proper alloys."

"For example, German ordnance has been constructed using only 1.53% as much nickel to harden the steel as is used in the best American practice."

"There is a tendency toward the employment of emergency methods and the use of ersatz materials that is bound to impair the efficiency of all these implements of war."

GAS SUPPLIES SCARCE

"Although he concedes that the German war machine has been running since the summer may have been even larger than at the beginning of the war, it seems most likely that supplies of gasoline in the Reich will become increasingly scarce as the war goes on, and that from now on situation must turn to Germany's disadvantage."

"Much more serious than the problem of motor fuel is the shortage of lubricants."

"In all Germany, so far as I know, there is only one modern plant for making high-grade lubricants. This is at Danzig, and has been a frequent target for British bombs."

MUST FACE SHORTAGES

German soldiers are wearing out boots on the Russian roads that cannot be replaced out of conquered supplies. In the past, in this war will the German army have the same wealth of materials it now commands, to shoot away or consume. If Germany has to face a continued lack of the war on the south, she will have to encounter it with inferior equipment and inadequate material resources.

"They will face an acute shortage of labor, especially of skilled labor, throughout the country."

The German army's loss of men in killed and wounded up to the present, Miller thinks, is probably less than in the first great war and no more than the general case counted on, but many of the lost were members of the old professional Reichswehr core of the army, and "these men are irreplaceable. I believe that in the German campaign, the German army will lose its backbone."

U.S. Pilots Do Not
Chase Nazi Bomber

REYKJAVIK, Aug. 22.—(AP)—United States pilots remained on the ground during the air alarm here Wednesday in which American-built Tomahawk fighter planes chased away a German Heinkel bomber, it was stated authoritatively today.

British airmen put the invader to flight without his having dropped any bombs. The German plane disappeared before the British planes set within firing range.

Not only did American airmen not take off, but anti-aircraft batteries of the United States forces stationed here were silent throughout the alarm.

The incident was the first in which a German plane had been reported over Iceland since announced July 7 that the U.S. forces had occupied the strategic North Atlantic island.

Side Glances

By Galbraith

"I'm dummy and I'm hiding until I see how your mother comes out on my five no-trump bid."

Interpreting
War News

Much of the richest areas of the United States is being captured by the Russian army. The Russian army has been overrun, even though, as Moscow asserts, they contain now only scorched fields, wreckage, cities and ruined factories.

Three are clear factors, without regard to the latest Nazi claim that 1,000,000 Russian troops have been killed, wounded or captured this year. This figure, parenthetically, is almost exactly twice the number of men under arms credited to the Russians at the start of the fighting by the most authoritative military sources.

Topping all entries on the Russian side of the ledger is the certainty that the German army is still in the field after two months, and that a Soviet official spokesman has said unblinkingly that "there is no alarm or pessimism in our ranks."

TERRIBLE LOSS OF LIFE

Remnants of Field Marshal Budenny's army and a superior Russian Black Sea Fleet have the way to the Caucasus in point of territory the German conquests are still less than those of the First Great War.

A widespread belief persists that unexplained failures of the German war machine—failure to follow up the bombing of London, for instance—may be explained by deficiencies in the supply of lubricating oil."

"They will face an acute shortage of labor, especially of skilled labor, throughout the country."

I believe that in the German campaign, the German army will lose its backbone."

Delay Saves Life
Of Premier Fraser

LONDON, Aug. 22.—(CP)—The decision of Prime Minister Fraser of New Zealand to prolong his stay in Britain in order to meet Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada saved his life.

Mr. Fraser had intended to leave about the Atlantic aircraft which crashed Aug. 14, killing Sir H. Bonar Law, P.M. of Canada, and the British supply council in North America, and 21 others.

Barred From Pools

The One Hundred Percenters

President Roosevelt's report of his meeting with Prime Minister Churchill and the eight-point agreement emanating therefrom has been the signal for an isolationist's field day in the United States Senate.

Such venerable constitutionalists as Hiram Johnson and Arthur Vandenberg viewed the arrangement with shock. Senator Bennett Clark, who inherited his isolationism from a man who inherited a glass factory from an equally malodorous, joined in the chorus with the ridiculous warning that the agreement committed the United States to immediate participation in the war.

With his hereditary genius for the prose, Senator Vandenberg made the observation that if President Roosevelt made any dicker about a British battle ship within the zone of war, that agreement was automatically void.

Senator Clark is fantastically clever that way. He makes up law as he goes along.

The entire discussion in the Senate yesterday was on this lofty plane of hysteria, bigotry and nonsense.

There was, however, one notable feature about it. Not one of the dissentient senators had any fault to find with the eight-point agreement itself.

Infinitely more intelligent, they agreed that it was a noteworthy document, setting forth in wide and noble terms the objective of civilized people in this struggle.

They were satisfied that only upon such a basis could peace be restored to this world. They recognized that no other foundation could human rights
be secured.

What, then, was their objection to
it?

Their objection was that it might cost the United States something. Their fear was that, having talked about it,
the United States might have to do something about it.

In other words, they were content to accept American freedom, American security and American prosperity as a pious thought with British blood.

But they did not want to pay a cent
for it.

These isolationist senators proudly
call themselves "one hundred per cent Americans".

For it is no compliment to be linked by name with a set of selfish and narrow-minded beliefs which are contrary to the preservation of their rights that they forget their duties, so busy saving "Americanism" that they forget to save America.

War Clouds Over Persia

The ancient kingdom of Persia sits reclusely under a new thrall of war.
The Shah calls up his regiments and asks his people to brace themselves for trouble.

For the diplomatic struggle for control of strategic Persia is growing tense.

Persia has made an oral reply to the British and Russian demands that she must shut her Nazi fifth column.
But that reply, so London says, is not satisfactory.

It is not impossible that the British and the Russians may resort to force if the Persians do not curb the Nazis.
Evidence of Nazi activity in that country is convincing, although the Persians deny it. It is known that the ubiquitous Franz Papen has recently been in Persia intriguing with German agents
there.

Persia is of high strategic value,
under present circumstances, because Hitler could move his troops through that country for an attack on Iraq or else the valuable oil wells of Persia itself.

The war zone, then, appears ripe
for extension.

It does not look as though Persia
is prepared to co-operate with Britain or Russia.

Unpleasant Little Barbarians

Well-authenticated reports come from Shanghai that the Japanese are preventing the American Red Cross from distributing food and medicine in occupied China.

They are refusing transportation passes and hindering the efforts of the American organization to make it possible way. Epidemics are said to threaten in some Chinese areas unless medical supplies are immediately available.

Japan, of course, is moving desperately to wind up his Chinese campaign before the Chinese can move in other directions. Apparently he makes no difference to her if famine and disease finish the work her armies have been unable to accomplish.

It is amazing how quickly civilization rolls away from nations in times of national stress. The transformation is made with particular haste and ease

when the barbarian, as in the case of Japan, lies so slightly below the surface.

This cruel and ruthless behavior is of a piece with the fictitious announcement from Tokyo the other day, that Japan was allowing her people to eat tuberculous beef.

This latter was merely a stupid
play to the fear of western nations that if the Japanese standard of living was allowed to sink too far, Japan might become an epidemic disease
centre.

Of course, there was nothing to it because the Japanese are not a beef-stealing people and the utter absence of beef would not discommodate them.

Nevertheless it illustrated their complete lack of conscience in appealing to civilized instincts in the Occident.

Revelation Of Feeling

Lord Halifax, visiting in Ottawa, presents an interesting and valuable picture about the war in Europe. He says that the war will be lost by the Germans and won by the British when the idea enters German heads that the idea of hierarchy is prolonging the struggle.

German impatience with the conflict, as is well known, is growing.
The revelation of feeling in the German people. Air raids on their cities terrify them. They must know by this time, unless they are utter fools, that the very picture painted by their propaganda is as fictitious as a fairy tale.

If they are permitted to read the details of the agreement recently made by Mr. Churchill and President Roosevelt, they will surely be convinced that their leaders are unnecessarily
prolonging the war.

For in that agreement is laid down
a basis upon which Hitler can secure peace—if he wants it. All he has to do is to realize that the war is not his throw away his arms. The same terms in the agreement that prevent Hitler kicking territory out of German territory are preventing German territory.

What, then, could the German people lose if they compelled their Nazi leaders to quit now?

They would lose the war. Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt think economic health must prevail in all nations aspires to Germany as well as to any other country.

Should it not be obvious to the Germans, then, that Hitler is prolonging
the war?

And is it not reasonable to believe
that a revelation of feeling is imminent?

Should it not be obvious to the Germans, then, that Hitler is prolonging
the war?

And is it not reasonable to believe
that a revelation of feeling is imminent?

Blood May Flow In Paris

Harsh Treaty by Nazis May Incite Early Revolt
Among French

By HAROLD L. WEIR

Revolutionary passions and bubbling among the people of occupied France like a great cloud of trouble for the German occupants.

Particularly in the industrial suburbs of Paris, the bitter unrest comes to a head in a manner that has all the ingredients of a first class problem for France's German masters and their French lackeys.

It may be in a blood
bath comparable to some of the worst episodes in French history.

It is a clear from what information leaks out of France, has become acute all over the country.

Particularly in the Paris
region since the German occupation.

The present round-up of malcontents,
accompanied by frequent arrests, as appears to have been foreboding on Marshall Petain's declaration of August 12.

Riotous French discharges dealing with arrests and disorders have spoken of "Communists and Jews" and the designation given opponents of Nazi rule and its puppet regime. But yesterday the motion picture was shown down to Jews.

Obviously, this is because the authorities think it unwise to recall to public attention the fact there are Communists, and a good many of them, who are often described in pre-war days as the "red suburb" of Paris.

German Worried

Up until the present, the German military authorities have preferred to leave countryside, as far as possible, to the French hands. Admiral Darlan and Pierre Pacheco, who have been building a French army, have been making the German army have been forced to intervene and carry out executions before firing squads.

The German command in Paris do not think that he has threatened reprisals against the entire population of occupied France
if the disturbances in Paris do not cease.

What worries the Germans is the fact,
as French history teaches, that the greater the repression and oppression, the more desperate are the rebellious French likely to become.

This red-tinted eruption in the Paris area, which yesterday brought about six hundred arrests in a single police district, is at present apart from the general unrest in the French zone of France, and sympathizers and others who have good reason to detest both the Germans and Hitler.

Position Modified

The Germans, however, are not the only ones to have a headache over the disturbances in France.

Marshall Petain and his cabinet, who sought to build and conduct the war and a half ago about all-out collaboration with the Germans, have been frightened into changing their position.

Despite all the big brave talk, there has been a real alliance with the Nazis against Russia.

There has been no actual increase in collaboration with the Nazis, but the Syrian affair, which it is said, might not have been so serious if it were not for British and French had Petain's acute
jealousy of de Gaulle not prompted him
to make a public statement only because French troops were with the British.

Vichy is trying to make it appear that the French are not in a position to the Fascist-like decree that followed the British and French had Petain's acute
jealousy of de Gaulle not prompted him
to make a public statement only because French troops were with the British.

It is also being said that General We-

the French people and told them that has raised such a whirlwind in and out of France that the Vichy crowd is scared to death.

Growing Restlessness

French restlessness and resentment have not yet been brought to a head under unified leadership.

There have been sporadic, unconnected
disturbances in the unoccupied areas.
Paris has been the theatre of a series of Petain has been the object of vocal disparagement.

In the occupied zone, there has been sufficient rioting and sabotage so that the German military command has been moved to offer a reward of a million francs (about $20,000) for the capture of French saboteurs.

This new violence in Paris may be the most serious blow to the entire French powder magazine.

It should be remembered that the actions of the French Revolution (and now more desperate odds than did those who groan under German abuse and oppression today).

A people who could pull down the Bastille with their bare hands, could perform just as valiantly against German intruders if their zeal and hatred mounted high enough.

There is no reason for saying that this is going to happen. But bloody revolt against Vichy France. Bloody revolt can reign in Paris again.

One must remember that the monarchy and the nobility were noted more for their wealth and power than for their virtue and nobility in France than the French nobles of the 18th century.

Sometimes history repeats itself.

England hands 'em to Germany—
Americans hand 'em to England. Knifing for Britain!

Junior Football To Start Season's Schedule Aug. 29

The 1941 schedule of Edmonton Junior Football League released following Thursday night's executive meeting calls for nine games, with the opening date set for next Friday, August 29.

The league is starting one month earlier than last year and the three teams, E.A.C. Maple Leafs and South Side will complete the schedule at approximately the same date as they began in 1940, the last game being Sept. 27.

All games will be played under the floodlights at Clarke stadium with the exception of the Sept. 1 (Labor Day) fixture which will start at 3 p.m.

At the conclusion of the schedule the two top teams will play off for the league championship and the winner then meet Calgary for provincial honors, with the western title series to come later.

The advance ticket sale is receiving a good response and with all three teams playing well, a banner season is being looked for.

Potatoes Are Over-Chummy: Grow Together

Two giggling girls, 6657676 and 6657677, were the first to comment this week, bearing with them rich gifts of potatoes that had grown together. The girls, Margaret, 15, and Leslie, 17, daughters of Margaret and J. H. Muhlendorf, 10027 34 street, said they discovered the "in-grown" spuds this week while going through some vegetables that had been left in the basement of their home.

Margaret added that potatoes aren't the only freak vegetables she's got. She says claims to having a sunflower in her garden that has flowers growing from the leaves.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE NEYER ELDERD
Small babies and children do choke easily. It may mean nothing if it happens only occasionally. It means something if it is a chronic happening.

Babies can get such large mouthfuls of food that it runs down into their throats before they have had a chance to swallow. Small babies given thick foods, when they have been used to fluid ones only, may choke for a time before they learn the art of swallowing.

If the child chokes a lot he will feel a distaste for the types of food which cause it. We then must find the child's refusal to try to chew or swallow thick foods.

Mrs. F. A. S. says her two-year-old boy has a tendency to choke while nursing. "Just recently she strangled on water and it was hard to get her out of it. I gave her a terrible scare that I want to know what to do if it happens again. In what position should the baby be when nursing? Everyone has given me advice, but I want to hear what you say."

I appreciate your confidence in me and the best advice I can give you is to consult a good pediatrician and tell him about the baby's choking. This may be nothing, except, perhaps, too much water poured in baby's open mouth from a nipple which flows too freely. Or, when nursing, the first flow of milk may be too fast; that baby choked in an effort to swallow it all.

Use a bottle-nipple of the type of a size to allow the water to drip slowly when the bottle is inverted. Try out some of the first, non-flowing breast milk. Hold the baby on the arm with his head raised and give him the breast so that his baby's nostrils are free.

Some few babies have thyroid glands which are so large that they press on the respiratory organs and cause a suffocation which may be breath-holding and a sort of "faint" afterwards.

When this condition is present, children choke easily on crumbs or

For sports and formal wear fashion experts deem wolverine as a fashion leader for fall. Here is screen actress Jane Wyatt's new jacket in striped wolverine, which she plans to wear with sporty clothes as well as with her evening gown.

There are any symptoms which might lead a parent to imagine that the gland is larger than it should be.

Our latest, "Nervous Habit," discusses children's habits which bring the parents, it will be mailed free on request. A self-addressed, three-cent-stamped envelope should be included with your letter.

Agricultural Science Glorifies Blueberry

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

Happens often rules the kitchen—like the time Junior dropped his skates on the floor and the cake in the oven didn't fall, like the time you forgot to taste the Sunday roast and it was miraculously sweet and tender in spite of your neglect.

But the choice fruits that come from today's orchards and gardens are as far from "happen-so" formula as a really good permanent wave. Or have you brushed up lately on the blueberry business? It's a thriving one. The Department of Agriculture, the New Jersey State Agricultural Experiment Station, a female Ulster Rurik, New Jersey named Elizabeth Whelan, and many more groups and people at work in North Carolina and Michigan, are responsible for the May-to-September native blueberries are getting.

BLUEBERRY BUFFERS
(About 18 small muffins)
Two cups sifted flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup cultivated blueberries, 1 cup shortening, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 egg, 1 cup milk.

Shift together flour, baking powder and salt. Combine with cream shortening and sugar and cream and drained blueberries. Cream until fluffy. Beat egg well and stir into shortening mixture. Add flour and berries mixture to shortening a little at a time, alternating with milk. Beat well after each addition. Bake in evenly graded muffin pans in moderately hot oven (425 deg. F.) for about 20 minutes.

BLUEBERRY CRUMBLE
(Serves 4 or 5)
One and one-half cups cultivated blueberries, Juice 1 lemon, 1 cup butter, 1 cup sifted flour, 1 cup sugar, pinch salt.

Smoke Of War

German prisoners of war, captured by the Russians, are lighting cigarettes that have been given to them, according to the Moscow censor-approved caption.

Each of these men left Germany bound for "glory", one by air, and one by sea, but both ended up as prisoners in London, bound for internment camp.

Airview Of Mystery Blaze Which Swept Brooklyn Waterfront

Diving as close to the flames as it dared go, a cameraman on a special plane made this unusual and spectacular photo of the conflagration that swept Pier 27 in Brooklyn, and the surrounding waterfront in one of the worst fires in recent years. The tongues of flames are shown leaping skyward after a series of blasts. In the centre between both piers, can be distinguished the Cuban liner Panuco, ablaze, just before it was towed into mid-bay in a near-sinking condition. Scores of firemen and longshoremen were severely injured and authorities are investigating the cause of the fire which damaged some military supplies.

Official Pictures Of U.S. Occupation Of Iceland

Canadian Children Escape Nazis

Joseph L. Began, Canadian mining engineer, and his wife, Marie Louise Began, and their children were living in Paris until two days before the Germans occupied it. They fled to unoccupied France, thence to Lisbon where Paul was born while the family was waiting for the boat. Left to right, Claire, three and a half; Monique, five and a half, holding Paul, four months, and Catherine, two years, who is kissing her baby brother on top of the head.

Persian Predicament

Iran, modern Persia, is in peril of becoming the war's next battlefield if Axis and anti-Axis troops clash for control there. Map shows how Germans might attack to establish bases for drive on British-controlled east, how British and Russians might move in to keep the Nazis out.

These mountain men of Iran may be first to see invading armies. Typical of that group of natives still clinging to ancient dress and custom, they live in the north, near the Russian frontier.

Power Plant Of Sanatorium Is Prey To Flames

CALGARY, Aug. 22 (CP)—The power plant of the Central Alberta Sanatorium at Keith, 12 miles west of Calgary, was totally destroyed by fire Thursday night, leaving the institution housing 210 patients without electric light, power, steam or heat.

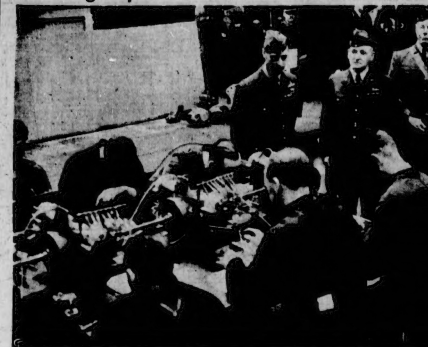

Dr. A. H. Baker, superintendent, announced the building was a heap of ruins but was unable to give a complete estimate of the damage. At 11:30 p.m. the debris was still burning fiercely.

The sanatorium patients remained quite calm after the first jangling of the alarm bell and many of them watched the flames from the windows of the main building. The "bean" fire brigade, three trucks from Calgary, and a number of volunteers from the neighboring areas battled the blaze but the fire got such a good start little could be done.

However, through their efforts, the dining hall next to the power house was saved. The sanatorium itself, 100 yards away, was never in danger.

Shortly after the blaze broke out the power plant went "dead" and the lights of the sanatorium went out. The staff soon brought out candles and carried on as best they could.

Duke Recognized On Shopping Tour

IN TORONTO STORE

TORONTO, Aug. 22 (CP)—The Duke of Kent might not have known it, but he tried it and he didn't work.

It was simply a matter of going shopping in downtown Toronto in civilian clothes—inconspicuous in a manner of speaking, in his Canadian dress he has usually worn the uniform of an air cadet.

He got through the city streets all right and into the store, but he didn't remain inconspicuous long. Shopkeepers quickly recognized the Royal Visitor and he was surrounded by excited women before he could escape.

His shopping tour was to purchase presents for his wife, the Princess Marina.

Morale, Efficiency Of Soviets Lauded

LONDON, Aug. 22 (CP)—An official report to the War Office from Lt.-Gen. F. N. Mason-MacFarlane, head of the British mission in Moscow, praises the morale and efficiency of the Russian army, as well as the division fought in the battle of Moscow.

The report said Gen. Mason-MacFarlane said he was impressed by "the excellent cooperation between the Red air force and other arms."

He noted in his report that the Russians cleared the battlefield of German armor and tanks methodically and quickly and buried all German dead within 24 hours.

Duke Pays Visit To Military Hospitals

TORONTO, Aug. 22 (CP)—Veterans of the first Great War and the present conflict received a glimpse of Royalty today as the Duke of Kent, who is in leading editorial today called on the president, the congress and the people of the United States for a declaration of war on the Axis.

The Political and Literary Weekly argued:

"Today there is a chance of an immediate and complete victory over Hitler through a combined assault by the United States, Great Britain and Russia. It is true that we are not entirely ready to participate in such a struggle but... we are far better prepared to fight now as one of a group of allies than we should be to fight alone one or two years hence."

Officials of the province asked him in combating the disease, which has caused 10 deaths in the four western Canadian provinces since its prevalence first was reported.

Authorities counted 668 cases of the infection, which has centered in Manitoba.

Sister Kenny, an Australian nurse whose theory of treatment is diametrically opposed to conventional methods, has established clinics in Minneapolis at General Hospital, and the University of Minnesota.

Her treatment, consisting of bed application, exercise and massage, as contrasted to the usual treatment of immobilization, is based on the theory that an alteration between the nerves of the spinal chord and the brain occurs in the disease.
